

DISCOVER OUR 3-AXIS STRATEGY

Turning thousands of possibilities into a single possibility, Thaosen

As a result of globalization, companies are required to conduct their day-to-day business with a global vision. Thus, a growing number of SMEs are looking forward to discovering different possibilities by trying international purchasing to meet the needs of cost reduction, modernization of production lines, etc. In order to grow through international purchasing, small and medium sized companies need to go through 3 key steps that we have identified and used to design our 3 axis strategy.

3-axis strategy

We have developed a strategy based on 3 axes. The first is analysis. Analyze and Sourcing to act intelligently. The second is action. Operate import & export procedures to gain autonomy. The third is development. Develop your supply chain in order to automate your procedures and start your long term development.

Our priority is to propose the solution that is most consistent with the needs and constraints of each of our customers. To develop and operate responsible, sustainable and agile supply chains that meet the demands of a dynamic global distribution industry while protecting and improving the lives of all those involved in the industry. Our goal is to contribute to the development of millions of SMEs through the development of sustainable supply chains.

ANALYSIS | ANALYSIS & SOURCING

We have a global network of suppliers and partners with a focus on the Asian market, as well as privileged access to the domestic markets of various exporting countries with various advantages, allowing us to offer the most suitable solution for each client.

ACTION | IMPORT & EXPORT

We identify and implement the best strategies to carry out all import & export procedures while ensuring that the conditions of collaboration between our customers and suppliers are respected through supply chain management.

DEVELOPMENT | DISTRIBUTION & SUPPLY CHAIN

We develop the supply chains of SMEs for long-term distribution while building trusting relationships between suppliers and our customers. We take charge of supply chain development and management while representing your company on site.
